Jim and Shelly Romo named Arcadia Chamber of Commerce Citizens of the Year

*To be presented award at
Chamber directors, officers
Installation Dinner March 21*

The Arcadia Chamber of Commerce is pleased to announce that Jim and Shelly Romo have been named Citizens of the Year for 2013-14. Individually and together the couple who have known each other since seventh grade has devoted a lifetime of volunteer service to the community of Arcadia through scouting, schools, church and myriad organizations.

The Romos will succeed Alice Wang, this year's Citizen of the Year, at the 2013 Citizen of the Year/Installation Dinner to be held in the Chandelier Room at Santa Anita Park on March 21. The annual dinner event, featuring the induction of the new Chamber officers, including Chairman-elect Arlynn Robinson of Century 21, Earll, and presentations by Chamber and City leaders and political dignitaries, is considered one of Arcadia's premier events and features an auction. For information and tickets, call the Chamber office at 626-447-2159.

Most recently, Shelly, a former school teacher, has been President of Assistance League of Arcadia and overseen the operation and annual Holiday sale of the Bargain Box thrift store that funds the providing of clothing and school supplies to needy children. Jim, a partner in the law firm of Atkinson, Andelson, Loya, Rund & Romo, recently began serving on the board of the new Performing Arts Center Foundation.

"Our participation in this wonderful community has given us many rewards – the most important is the friendship of so many giving and caring people," said the couple who still find time for community work while enjoying even more rewarding volunteer time spent with their two grandchildren and three adult children.

Other recent Citizens of the Year include Sho Tay, Vince Foley, current City Councilmen Gary Kovacic and Mickey Segal, the latter along with his wife Lee Segal, and Gail Jensen.

Over the years, Jim has been President of the Arcadia Unified School District Board of Education twice during his 10 years on the board, and also served two terms as President of the Arcadia Educational Foundation. For his volunteering efforts with the schools, Jim has received the Golden Service Award from Arcadia school district, the Honorary Service Award from the Council PTA, and the "Very Special Person" award from Arcadia High School. He has been a coach and advisor for 15 years to the AHS recent state and national champion Government/Constitution Competition Team.

PRESIDENT'S CORNER

PETE SIBERELL,
President, 2012-2013

This newsletter message will be my last as president of Arcadia Chamber of Commerce. This year has just whirled by!

As such, it would be proper for me to note the Chamber highlights of the past year. The many accomplishments have been brought about by a talented Chamber staff, led by CEO Scott Hettrick and an involved and enthusiastic ACC board of directors, committee members and volunteers.

- Launch of new website. It includes a robust, interactive member directory, daily news, calendars and event photo updates. It attracts more than 100 different visitors every day; they spend an average of three minutes looking at three different pages on each visit.
- Launch of first-ever Chamber YouTube channel. Over 50 videos, many produced free for Chamber members are featured on it.
- An email newsletter list that has grown to over 2,000 subscribers.
- Two dozen $250 first-of-a-kind All Access passes have been sold since the January, 2012 launch. This benefit provides events and amenities at a discount to pass holders while raising more operating funds for the Chamber.
- Most successful Taste of Arcadia in years. This year we added a Business Showcase for the first time; it provided 30 new non-food and beverage businesses to participate in a well-attended venue. Over $26,000 net was raised for the Chamber from this event!
- A plethora of ribbon-cutting events. Those include the California Philharmonic Festival on the Green's new home at Santa Anita Park, and Pasadena Pop's new summer home at the LA County Arboretum. Arcadia gets a win-win with live entertainment under the stars and across Baldwin Avenue!
- Great progress on establishing a Community Benefits District in downtown Arcadia. This will result in a thriving business area, particularly with the coming of the Gold Line station.
- Excellent communication with the Arcadia city staff. The city has gotten great input from the Chamber about how it can be even more "business friendly," and is currently making plans for a business ambassador to help new business owners get off to a fast, efficient start.
- New and productive committees to tackle a variety of Arcadia business challenges. Among them are the Breeders' Cup Committee, which welcomes our out-of-town visitors to Arcadia; the Video Committee, which will produce an array of short videos that highlight both business opportunities in our city and the benefits of being a Chamber member, and the Building Committee, which looks after the upkeep of the Chamber building but also is exploring the viability of new signage that can promote Chamber interests and events.

Last – but definitely not least – is a new welcome mat at the Chamber office. A new shiny mat with the Arcadia Chamber logo will invite all Chamber members – and potential members – to be part of a wonderful, growing, pro-business family.

Thank you for your support of my term as your Chamber president. Best of business luck in 2013.

LOADED CHAMBER

SCOTT HETRICK

As winter winds down, our winter issue of the quarterly Chamber newsletter reflects on another season of success for Chamber members.

It's odd to think of Southern California as being at its most beautiful during its coldest season but that is often the case as it was again this winter. When we posted photos on the Chamber's web site and Facebook showing some spectacular images from around Arcadia on a gorgeous clear day, it was retiring School Board President Joann Steinmeier who commented that it looked like "a Chamber of Commerce day!"

She's right, these are the days, when seen during the global TV broadcast of local events like the Rose Bowl and Parade in early winter, and especially when experienced by visitors in person who stay in local Arcadia hotels during the holidays or during events like the Breeders' Cup at Santa Anita Park, that attract people to Southern California in general and Arcadia in particular.

Arcadia gets more than its fair share of visitors from all over the world, the country, and the state to events such as the Arcadia Invitational National High School Track Meet, State and National competitions at the Santa Anita Lawn Bowling Club, the Arcadia Festival of Bands, and others.

Your Chamber is working to help all of our members better capitalize on these golden opportunities and to encourage even more visitors to come to Arcadia. Just one of these strategic initiatives is The Arcadia Towne Center project, which is planned to revitalize the historic downtown area in order to attract visitors from the Gold Line station opening in early 2016 to get off the train and visit Arcadia.

We are also producing videos to showcase Arcadia to potential visitors and partnering with relocation companies to promote all that Arcadia has to offer. After all, every day is an Arcadia Chamber of Commerce Day!
