

California Public Utilities Commission

Webinar: Natural Gas 101 and Policies for a Just Transition

This informational webinar will cover the basics of the gas system, how it is regulated, and CPUC's Long-Term Gas Planning Rulemaking in the context of other state efforts.

State and local climate policies may have substantial long-term implications for our natural gas infrastructure. This webinar is intended for local governments and community-based organizations (CBOs) that are concerned with the equity, affordability, and reliability implications of these policies and will help provide a working knowledge of how to engage with the CPUC and other state agencies.

The Q&A session will provide attendees with an opportunity to help us better understand the communities we are trying to reach as well how we should adjust our future engagement efforts to meet their needs.

Click here for more information and to register.

WEBINAR

Natural Gas 101 and Policies for a Just Transition

March 16, 2022

10:00 am– noon

Please join us!

Register today!

Protecting California since 1911

The CPUC regulates privately owned electric, natural gas, telecommunications, water, railroad, rail transit, and passenger transportation companies.

@CaliforniaPUC